GIN COCKTAILS 24

Sin and Tonic The ultimate gin and tonic that may slip you to sin, when you wonder why the drizzle of Clitoria ternatea (pea flower) made the frustrated blue hue, blush with pink when joined with gin.

Pear of Kings Street royalty was only obtained when knitted by the secret trials that once happened in the illegal gambling dens of Kings Cross.

Pepperation Makes Perfect For the juniper freak. Savoury and sweet. Strong and not weak. Good times and lots of heat!

Blanconi This new interpretation of the traditional Negroni, pushes the conservative boundaries. The same way Kings Cross has done to many people, present and past.

Dandelion Martini Like the modernist design of the El Alamein Fountain that sits across the road from the distillery. This martini is modernistic in its style, is refreshing, yet retains a classic element.

Im(peach)ment Some would say that Kings Cross was quite the scary place, that had a history of organized crime and corruption which finally led to a Royal Commission in the mid-1990s. Now this once impeached area is blossoming like a peach tree.

SIGNATURE COCKTAILS 24

Tally Me'Banana Based on the 1950s Harry Belafonte classic hit.

Flash and Pash Kings X had a whole lot'a this going on, so enjoy this new kind of pash + flash Insta.

Pandan-ic Milk Punch A clarified spring milk punch with Aussie brandy, 2 sips, a gulp, & get randy.

Hey Pachuco! The spice of South America; art food & culture.

Red Right Hand A reference to Paradise Lost, meaning divine vengeance.

Piscoteque 1970s in Kings X was all about Saturday night fever and discotheques. Boogie on down.
